HUERTA, SMOKED OUT, DISPATCHES ENVOY TO LIND

Wilson Policy of "Financial Starvation" Causes Dictator to Weaken.

MORE FEDERAL REVERSES

O'Shaughnessy Holds Important Conference with Japanese Minister.

Mexico City, Nov. 29.—A conference held here today between the Japanese Minister to Mexico and Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy and the sending of Foreign Minister Madero to Vera Cruz, presumably to reopen negotiations with John Lind, led to a report that the Huerta administration had been compelled to back down, and that a settlement with the United States might be looked for within forty-eight hours.

According to reports, shortage of funds has brought Huerta to a realization of the futility of a continuance of his defiance of the United States.

Congress has not yet acted on any of the important concessions, which were dependent upon the production of funds to meet current expenses and the extraordinary taxes recently imposed, have failed to bring forward the revenue needed. The chamber of deputies this afternoon advanced officers for the month of December.

In regard to Madero's trip to Vera Cruz, it also was reported he had broken with Huerta and decided to leave the cabinet, and that he might be arranging to sail for Havana or some other foreign port.

Temple's Fears Attack.

The thousands of the rebels in the north and west are said to be responsible for the concentration of federal forces near the capital. The fall of Maximilian, which the government denies today, will give the rebels command of the greater portion of the west coast.

The situation at Tampico is becoming more critical. Gen. Zaragoza, the federal commander at that port, fears an immediate attack, as the rebels are reported to be massing near Concepcion, on the National Railway, northwest of Tampico. A large force of rebels is reported advancing on Tampico, along the Central Railroad, from the west, under Gen. Carranza and Aguilar.

Fear of American battleships is believed to be the reason for the hostilities of the rebels in attacking the city. Notice has been served by Admiral Fletcher that marines will be landed if necessary, to protect the persons and property of foreigners. This might be the beginning of intervention, which is as much dreaded by the rebels as by the federal.

Federal Losses Reported.

Reliable private advices report hard fighting all day yesterday and this morning, between the Carranzas and Gen. Cuernavaca, and the federal under Col. Castillo, west of Concepcion. The federalists were said to have lost one hundred killed and many wounded, after eight hours of fighting. The rebels were not so severe, as they are well entrenched and have machine guns.

Reports from Southern Coahuila say Saltillo is surrounded by rebels. Communication between the city and the army is expected an attack at any moment.

A strong and persistent rumor is in circulation that Gen. Rubio Navarrete, whose military tactics enabled the rebels to capture Cuernavaca, has been taken prisoner and his command practically annihilated.

The last of the relatives of the late President Madero left the capital today when Manuel Madero, an aged member of the family, was sent to Vera Cruz under heavy guard to be placed in San Juan de Ulloa fortress. The train was attacked by Zapatistas an hour after leaving the capital, but the rebels were driven off after an hour's fight.

Rebels Surround City.

Military experts believe Huerta soon will begin to draw in his forces from outlying posts and concentrate them around the capital, where he may be enabled to force the rebels into a general battle, and where his superior military ability might be used to advantage in combating the unscientific leadership of Villa, Carranza, and their lieutenants.

By their victory over Gen. Navarro.

After it is copied by the official stenographer for insertion in the Congressional Record, the letter of the President's daughter will be filed away in the House archives.

RAILROAD RAISES QUESTION.

Brings Suit for $20,000 Loss as Result of Floods.

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 29.—A suit, entered by the Hooking Valley Railroad against the Lackawanna Lumber and Coal Company, for $20,000, in the United States District Court here, brings up a new question with relation to floods and their effects.

Last March the railroad company was forced to change the route of cars hauled by the Paint Creek Collieries Company, for which the Lackawanna Company is the holding corporation, in account of floods in Ohio. The resulting charges amounted to $20,000, and the railroad asks judgment in that sum.

HERE TO FIGHT FOR THE CAUSE

Leaders of Suffrage Movement in All Sections Are Gathering in Capital.

TO BE BUSY CONVENTION

Efforts Will Be Made to Have Congress Act on Amendment. Hearings Planned.

Leaders of the woman suffrage movement from all parts of the country are gathered in Washington today for the forty-fifth annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Association. They are here to try to induce Congress to submit to the States an amendment to the Federal Constitution enfranchising women.

They also are here to reorganize their national association about better business lines that it may become a powerful, highly efficient machine. It is planned to centralize the power of the organization so that it can bring to bear its whole strength upon Congress and force that body into passing the amendment resolution. It is planned further, to greatly increase the revenues of the national association.

Officers of the convention believe that they can exert influence upon the leaders of the big political parties in the future. They are determined to make woman suffrage a national issue, and they assert that they hold the balance of power needed to do this.

Executive Committee Meets.

Conferences between convention leaders, registration of the 400 delegates, and committee meetings at the Hotel Bellevue, the headquarters, went on all day yesterday. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the national association, Miss Jane Addams, first vice-president; Miss Mary Ware Dennett, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald, recording secretary; Mrs. Katherine Dexter McCormick, treasurer; and Mrs. Harriet Burton Ladd, auditor, met last night as the executive committee of the national organization to consider the proposed changes in the constitution, chiefly affecting matters of revenue.

There will be a big mass meeting at the Columbia Theater this afternoon, at which Senator Helen Ring Robinson, Miss Jane Addams, and Dr. Anna Howard Shaw will speak. In the evening delegates to the convention will be received by the national board at the Bellevue Hotel. The sessions of the convention began tomorrow at the New Masonic Temple and will continue through Friday.

Two hearings have been arranged before the House Rules Committee on the subject of the establishment of a woman suffrage committee in the House. The first hearing for the suffragists will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The "anti" will be given a hearing Thursday morning, and a suffrage hearing in rebuttal will be held Friday morning.

Will Hear Wilson's Message.

Many of the delegates are convinced that President Wilson will include recommendations in the interest of woman suffrage in his message to Congress, and they plan to go in a body to hear the President's message.

There were 100 women on the special, of whom thirty-nine were accredited delegates from Illinois. This delegation will celebrate its recent victory tomorrow afternoon.

At the conclusion of the convention on Friday, a suffrage school will be opened at the Public Library. Many of the delegates will remain to give lectures. One of the things that probably will occupy the attention of the convention is a discussion of methods that should be employed in the winning of the ballot. It is understood that some difference of opinion exists concerning the most practical measures to employ.

An appropriation to lighten the expenses of the suffrage convention yesterday was refused by the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

SAYRES OFF TO EUROPE; ELUDE CROWD AT DOCK

White House Bridal Couple Board Ship by Second-Class Gangway and Escape Curious.

New York, Nov. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, the White House bridal couple, sailed for their honeymoon in Europe today on board the Hamburg-American liner George Washington. President Wilson and his daughter Eleanor were at the pier to bid the couple bon voyage.

The Hamburg-American Line pier at Hoboken was decorated with flags and bunting, as was the vessel, and several hundred curious persons, newspaper men, and photographers waited in vain for more than two hours for a glimpse of the bride and groom.

The vessel was held half an hour for a consignment of mail and during this time the crowd called to Mr. and Mrs. Sayre "to have a heart" and come on deck.

The response to this was when Mr. Sayre peeked through a port hole and finally consented to tell the reporters that he and his bride were "going to England first."

A social gangplank, leading to the bridal suite, had been decorated for the bridal couple, but Mr. and Mrs. Sayre disappointed the crowd by slipping aboard by way of the second cabin gangplank, and going directly to their stateroom. Half an hour later the President arrived and chatted with his daughter and son-in-law for twenty minutes.

AUTO BANDITS MAKE HAUL

Hold Up Insurance Magnate and Get $2,000 and Jewelry.

New York, Nov. 29.—In one of the boldest automobile robberies ever perpetrated in New York, three masked bandits early today held up the motor car of Cornelius Doremus, president of the Germania Life Insurance Company, at a lonely spot in Pelham Parkway, obtained $2,000 and jewelry worth more than $2,000.

A stylishly dressed young woman in the car, who Mr. Doremus said, was one of his three daughters, fainted, and the robbers tore the rings from her fingers as she lay in a swoon.

Mr. Doremus, who is more than seventy years old, had been at Woodmont Inn for dinner. One of the robbers detected him trying to hide a roll of $200 and struck him in the face, knocking him unconscious.

COAL SOARS IN PHILADELPHIA.

Higher Wage for Drivers Comes from Consumers' Pockets.

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—Anthracite coal prices are due for another "boost" in Philadelphia. On Monday morning the retail coal dealers will have to pay their wagon drivers $2 more per week. This will cut down the dealers' profit to the point where they will have to "either raise the price to consumers or go out of business," according to Charles K. Soull, secretary of the Coal Dealers' Exchange, today.

ACTION IN RUBBER SCANDAL.

British Ask Aquilith to Check Evading of Anti-Slavery Laws.

London, Nov. 29.—Immediate legislation to bar British subjects from evading the slave trade acts is urged in a memorial presented to Premier Aquilith today.

The signers, an influential committee, were stirred to action by the revelations made during the inquiry into the activities on the rubber fields of Putumayo, Peru, and by evidence that "conditions of native labor elsewhere in South America and in other tropical and semi-tropical regions where British subjects and capital are operating, are closely akin to slavery."

A demand for the revision of the anti-slavery treaties with foreign powers is also made by the committee, which urges that these treaties should be made definitely applicable to "modern forms of slavery."

DELUGE OF WORK AT NEW SESSION

President Will Push Anti-trust Legislation After Currency Bill Is Passed.

President Wilson, who was never a football enthusiast, witnessed his first Army-Navy game today. The tide of battle was not with him. When he sat in a box on the Army side at the Polo Grounds, the Middles showed a decided superiority to their rivals, and when he went over to the Navy side, the boys from West Point swept far in the lead of the Annapolis eleven.

With him at the game were his daughter, Miss Eleanor; Col. and Mrs. E. M. House, his cousin, John Wilson, and Dr. Cary T. Grayson, Secretary of War Garrison was his guest in the Army box, and the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels were with him across the gridiron.

"I am not going to favor either one of you two gentlemen," said the President, when the Secretaries of War and Navy met in midfield between the halves. Among those who were waiting to greet him in the Annapolis box were Gov. Glynn, Mayor Kline, Representative Fitzgerald, Gov. Goldsborough, of Maryland; Secretary Daniels, and others.

President Wilson waited for the parade of the Cadets on the gridiron after the game, and saw the West Point flag raised on the goal posts. He proceeded directly to the home of Col. House, and later attended "The Seven Keys to Happiness" at the Astor Theater. He left for Washington at 12:30 to-night.

"I am delighted with the Army victory," said Secretary of War Garrison. "It was won by pure courage, for the Navy team was heavier, and was generally expected to win."

President Spends Half with Each Faction—Garrison Delighted at West Pointers' Victory.

New York, Nov. 29.—Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, who was never a football enthusiast, witnessed his first Army-Navy game today. The tide of battle was not with him. When he sat in a box on the Army side at the Polo Grounds, the Middles showed a decided superiority to their rivals, and when he went over to the Navy side, the boys from West Point swept far in the lead of the Annapolis eleven.

WOULD DRIVE OUT "FAKERS."

Nation-wide Crusade Against Illegitimate Auctioneering Is Planned.

Boston, Nov. 29.—"The campaign against the 'fake' auction rooms' may become nationwide," declared John H. Fahy, president of the National Chamber of Commerce, here today.

"Such a campaign would be waged by local business organizations in the various cities, and not by the national body," he said. "But the need for it is nationwide, and merchants of many cities are already taking steps to close these so-called 'bargain' rooms."

"The same committeemen, who recently conducted a campaign against shoplifting on behalf of Boston merchants, decreased losses among the merchants by thousands of dollars, are opening the 'fake auction' room campaign."

ARMED FUGITIVE HOLDS OFF POSSE

Mexican, Who Already Has Killed Four, Intrenched in Mine.

Shoots Down Pursuers

Fierce Battle Rages in Underground Passage—Try to Smoke Him Out.

Bingham, Utah, Nov. 29.—A fierce battle is raging in an underground incline connecting the Minnie and Utah Apex Mines between deputy sheriffs and Raphael Lopez, the Mexican who killed a countryman a week ago in the Highland Boy Mine and later murdered three deputy sheriffs who tried to capture him.

J. Douglas Hulsey, a deputy sheriff, and Tom Manderich, an Austrian miner, members of the posse that entered the Andy Tunnel this afternoon in an effort to capture Lopez, are dead or seriously wounded as a result of the battle, as is Bert Jones, engineer of the hoist along the incline.

The Mexican, hemmed in by dynamite in the rear, is firing at every shadow along the passageway in front. A rescue party with steel plates is preparing to recover the bodies of Hulsey and Manderich, after which another attempt will be made to smoke Lopez out of the passage. It was well prepared a smudge to effectively block the passageway that the two men were shot.

Lopez is well supplied with ammunition. There is much excitement tonight in Bingham. A race war is threatened between the Mexicans and Austrians in camp as a result of the shooting of Manderich. Sheriff Smith has ordered all Americans to keep inside their cabins. Three automobiles filled with deputies were rushed here tonight from Salt Lake in anticipation of trouble.

SHOTS DROP TWO MEN.

The posse, headed by Sheriff Alfalfa, of Toole County, entered the Andy tunnel this afternoon on the 200-foot level of the Utah Apex mine. At that time smoke was belching from a sulphur smudge previously built at the mouth of the Minnie mine. It was believed by constructing smudges at the foot of an incline connecting the Minnie and the Apex mines, that the Mexican would be bottled up.

The Mexican had reached the mine and proceeded upward but a short distance when three shots were fired. Hulsey, Dr. Ray, and Manderich were come what apart from the others and were preparing to light a fire to start the smudges. Hulsey and the Austrians fell at the first two shots, the third whizzing past Dr. Ray.

The killing or injuring of Hulsey and Manderich has effectively prevented the building of smudges because it is feared that if the two men are not dead the fumes from the smudges would be fatal.

DIPLOMAT'S WIFE ILL.

Mrs. T. Thompson Travels Thousands of Miles for Medical Aid.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 29.—Mrs. Thaddeus Thompson, wife of the United States Minister to Colombia, is a patient at the Johns Hopkins Hospital here today. Accompanied by her husband, she arrived here last night from New York to undergo an operation.

The arrival of Mrs. Thompson completes a journey of thousands of miles in search of medical aid. In Bogota, the seat of the Colombian government, there are practically no hospital facilities. In order that they might reach New York with the least possible delay, the captain of the steamer Matapan was helped up at Puerto Colombo for several hours waiting the arrival of the sick woman.

LETTERS IN SUIT CASE DISCLOSE ROBBERY

During Thieves Believed to Have Obtained $15,000 from Mail Sack in Transit.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 29.—In what is believed to have been one of the most daring mail robberies ever committed in this vicinity, $15,000 was stolen some time Friday night from the United States mail between here and Dowagiac, Mich. The first inkling of the robbery came to the local postoffice authorities today when a suit case filled with broken letters was found in an alley. Detectives were sent on and found letters directed to various banks in Michigan, evidence pointing that each contained drafts for big amounts. Postmarks on the envelopes indicated that the letters were mailed shortly before 5 o'clock Friday night at Dowagiac. No other clues besides the suit case have been discovered.

BIG CROWD AT DEDICATION OF MASONIC HOME

Impressive Ceremonies at Lamond Conducted by Grand Master Baldwin.

ADDRESSES ARE MADE

Gavel Used by George Washington at Laying of Corner Stone of Capital Is Wielded.

District Free Masonry and its affiliated orders were represented by more than 1,200 persons at the dedication ceremonies at the new Masonic and Eastern Star Home, held yesterday afternoon at Lamond Station, within the District limits.

The ceremonies were conducted by Grand Master of Masons Charles E. Baldwin, assisted by the other officers of the District Grand Lodge. They were conducted according to the solemn Masonic dedication ritual, and were doubly impressive because they marked the close of many years of work for the Masonic and Eastern Star Home.

The large attendance exceeded expectations. The Baltimore and Ohio road had prepared to carry 700 and 800 persons on the special, but these numbers were almost doubled, and the long train was packed. A severe rain storm, which threatened to set off, and toward the close of the ceremony exercises, the sun broke through the clouds for a moment.

The building will be completed by February. There are now fifty persons, aged Master Masons, their wives and orphans, cared for there, and when the building is finished it will afford accommodation for more than 100 persons. There will be a total of 122 rooms, including bedrooms, bathrooms and dining and assembly rooms. The building will cost about $150,000.

CORN IS SCATTERED.

The building was dedicated with the usual scattering of corn and pouring of wine and oil. There were not many in the large gathering who knew that the grand ceremony was being held with the gavel used by George Washington at the laying of the corner stone of the United States Capitol. This gavel is now the property of Potomac Lodge No. 1, and was sent to Lamond Station under a guard composed of W. H. McCoy, W. K. Handy, and R. F. Frey, of Potomac Lodge.

The Grand Lodge was called in special convocation at Masonic Temple by Grand Master Baldwin at 12:30 o'clock, and at 1 o'clock, under escort of Columbia Commandery, No. 2, Knights Templar, a large delegation of Master Masons, marshaled by Undersecretary of the District, headed the procession.

At the station many members of the Order of the Eastern Star, the woman's auxiliary of Masonry, waited. The procession, headed by the station Mrs. Lillian Carl, grand chaplain of the District, and Acting Grand Marshal Ralph C. Walker, with William S. Quinter, chief of staff, and Dr. Frank E. Gibson, representing the Knights Templar; Charles S. James, Charles D. Shackelford, C. Walter Howler, and Daniel V. Chisholm, representing the Master Masons; Blair McKenzie, and Fred M. Beck, representing the past masters, and C. C. Coombs, representing the Grand Lodge, as aids.

Flag Is Raised.

The exercises at the home were opened by the raising of the flag presented by Mrs. Emma Thompson, wife of the late grand chaplain of the District, Rev. J. Henning Nelms, grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge, pronounced the invocation, and Rev. Hugh T. Stevenson, assistant grand chaplain, made an introductory speech. Mr. Alexander Lame, president of the board of directors, spoke of the work of the board in bringing the home to completion, and said that it now was free from indebtedness.

Music was furnished by Miss Viola L. Schipper, H. T. Wood, and the Masonic octet. Miss Helma Cheesman was presented by lines from singing. Mrs. Grace E. Kline, grand matron of the Grand Chapter O. E. S., spoke of the aims of the Masonic order and the Order of the Eastern Star, and Kenton N. Harper, grand patron of the Grand Chapter, told of the work of the woman's auxiliary in helping to raise funds. Rev. J. Henning Nelms, grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge, pronounced the invocation, and Rev. Hugh T. Stevenson, assistant grand chaplain, made an introductory speech. Mr. Alexander Lame, president of the board of directors, spoke of the work of the board in bringing the home to completion, and said that it now was free from indebtedness.
